The Code of Wisdom

Living & Leading On Purpose
Part 1

A Retreat for Executives, Entrepreneurs, & Professionals with
Ramon G. Corrales, Ph.D.

THE THESIS AND PURPOSE OF THIS RETREAT

The thesis of this retreat is that, in the lives of successful individuals and their relationships, there are encoded patterns of wisdom that are describable and learnable. I have studied and decoded these patterns for over 25 years. The purpose of this 2-day retreat is to discover, learn, and apply these wisdom codes to your personal, relationship, and organizational life. You will learn to crack the Code of Wisdom for self-mastery, relationship mastery, and leadership mastery. Join me and a group of your successful peers in unlocking the secrets of high performance for profit and purpose.

So, I am personally inviting you to join me in a retreat that embodies over 25 years of work with people who have sought to live their purpose and to lead others do the same. These are leaders who successfully built inner and outer wealth. In this retreat, I am bringing together all of the pieces that I believe contribute to wisdom, while integrating knowledge, motivation, and instinct.

Ramon G. Corrales, Ph.D.

WHAT WILL YOU TAKE HOME WITH YOU?

1. AN INTEGRAL LIFE PLAN: to help you develop your awareness and behavior up to and beyond the integral or 3rd altitude of life.
2. AN INTEGRAL LEADERSHIP PLAN: to assist you in bringing out the best among those in your workgroup as individuals and as teams.

I realize this is a tall order. But where would we be without big ideas and big commitments? I cannot guarantee that your life WILL change. What I can say is that if you learn the Code, practice the wisdom it conveys, and apply it to all aspects of your life for one to three years, you will experience significant, measurable, and meaning-packed changes in your internal and external life. Before I ask you to make a commitment, let me give you some more information to consider.

THE CODE OF CODES

There is a code behind all the codes I've studied, practiced, and tested. I call it the Code of Codes. It may sound simple but it is quite profound:

The Code of Codes

All of life happens in four major altitudes, and life is very different in each altitude. The difference among levels makes all the difference in the world. If you grasp the significance of these altitudes, you will have a grasp of life.

Here is a simplified description of the four stages or altitudes of life:

THE FOUR UNIVERSAL STAGES OF LIFE

4. SPIRITUAL: at this level, we see that ALL (nature, people, nations) are one in essence, in origin, and in ultimate purpose.
 3. INTEGRAL: at this altitude, we can see the whole and the parts of our issues in life, a view that allows us to see both our individual and our joint purpose. Love reigns because the welfare of all is promoted.
 2. RATIONAL: your view and my view are taken into account; facts and evidence are important in our decisions and actions. Fairness surpasses feelings as the all-important standard.
 1. EMOTIONAL: egocentric view of life; only my view counts and my feelings govern me, so that what feels good to me is good & is right.

I will warn you that you will not get the full significance of this Code from this written description alone. What I'm about to do is like describing the taste of an exotic fruit to someone who never saw, touched, smelled, or tasted it. But it's only fair to give you a brief example.

Take any concept and it will look differently at each level. You can take any of the following lofty ideas and see how they change as you go from one altitude to the next: love, liberty, leadership, loyalty, or self-responsibility. Let's take LOVE as an example and see its transformation as we go up:

LOVE

|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <ol style="list-style-type: none">4. Selfless and universal: a love dedicated to seek the good of all humankind.3. Purposeful and holistic: a love that seeks our individual and joint welfare.2. Fair and negotiated: a rational approach to meeting each other's needs.1. Possessive and needy: romantic love that seeks to fill my lacks or holes. |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

If you get a feel for how things change as we go up the ladder of human development, you will begin to appreciate the power of this code when we deal with the following areas in your life:

- MANAGING AWARENESS
- MANAGING ACTIONS
- MANAGING RELATIONSHIPS
- MANAGING ORGANIZATIONS

You will learn to manage these important areas from the 3rd or Integral Level of Awareness, in contrast to leading from the Emotional or 1st Level, and even in contrast to leading from the Rational or 2nd level. These 3 levels (emotional, rational, integral), are the ALTITUDES from which we view and govern life. Life looks, feels, and unfolds differently at each altitude.

Since we can achieve wisdom from the 3rd level, we will focus most of our efforts on reaching the 3rd level of awareness. Periodically, I will indicate what the 4th level can offer us in life, relationship, and leadership.

In essence, we will look at your inner Awareness, your external Behavior, and your relationships from 3rd altitude of life, and telling you how to coach your loved ones and your colleagues to do the same. We will also teach you how to manage your organizational Culture and Structure to operate at least at the 2nd or rational altitude and set the stage for developing to the 3rd level.

HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT TO GET

- You will learn to crack The Code of Wisdom for self-mastery first.
- Then you will use this Code (and its subcodes) to build strong, life-giving relationships in your personal and professional lives. Strong, life-giving relationships will bring purpose and profit into your life.
- Use this Code for leadership mastery and significantly influence the organizational culture and structure of the groups you lead.
- You will learn to use the Code to deepen your spirituality (respectful of your own tradition) by clarifying the meaning and purpose of your life.
- You will develop an action plan to practice the Code in these vital areas. It's time to make a commitment.

Sincerely,

Ramon G. Corrales, Ph.D., CEO, Integral Mastery Center, Inc.

FORMAT

- Around 15 participants in three groups of 4-6 per group.
- You will be building your Integral Plans throughout the retreat, all of which will embody different aspects of your major purpose. You will benefit from the feedback of your peers throughout the retreat.
